Our Viewpoint

We believe that everything has countless points of view.

People, objects, experiences, places - everything.
Countless points of view.

When we don't understand something or someone, it is probably because our perspective is too limited for us to see. And when we can't see, we can't decide, we feel stuck. We find it hard to take the next step.

Our tools inspire us to start moving in search of new points of view. We look deep inside ourselves and all around us. It is a stimulating exploration that sharpens our senses and opens up new possibilities.

Who uses our tools?

Professionals

Counselors and therapists of all disciplines looking to expand their professional toolkit with tools adaptable to individual therapy, couples therapy, or groups of all sizes. (Psychologists, facilitators, counselors, coaches, consultants, social workers, educators and others).

Organizations

Human Resources professionals, training departments and organizational consultants working to promote growth, development and effective employee dialogue in workshops, brainstorming sessions, corporate team events and more.

Individuals

Anyone wishing to reconnect and enhance communication with themselves and others. People in search of fresh perspectives on dilemmas, relationships and decision making. Those seeking inner change and the opportunity to build new bridges.

Our clients include:

The Coaching Game

The Coaching Game features 65 associative cards that explore significant everyday life themes.

A colorful and thought-provoking book expands each theme through stories, quotes, interpretations and more photos. 4 process maps offer structured method, with the cards, to examine our own issues, and the focus notes assist in turning insights into actions.

The Coaching Game has been translated into 19 languages and has been highly praised by professionals around the world.

The Coaching Game includes:

- 65 photo cards
- 4 process maps
- Colorful inspiration book
- Focus notes
- Environmentally friendly canvas case

Punctum

Punctum fosters associative connections between photos, themes and questions.

These flexible combinations make it a fascinating tool, highly effective in dynamic therapy, coaching and counseling.

A booklet offering suggestions on how to play Punctum in different settings is also included.

Punctum includes:

- 33 photo cards
